ISOLATION IS DEAD—WHAT WAS IT?

State Secretary Hall was returned from Moscow, Sen. Connally has been proposed as a proper congressional delegate to the next meeting of Allied statesmen because the senate resolution favoring international collaboration bore his name and it is popularly believed that American isolation is dead. What was it? Was it Benjamin Franklin in France arranging for the intervention that secured our freedom from Britain when this nation was new?

Was it President Monroe enunciating a doctrine that all the nations of the new world held their sovereignty to be above that of any sovereignty transferred from Europe—a doctrine effectuated by the existence of British naval power?

Was it Theodore Roosevelt ordering the first great United States battle fleet to make a cruise around the world to signify that this nation intended to exert its influence in international affairs?

Was it the effort to open the Japanese islands to commerce, the agreement with other nations about an open door policy in China, intervention in the settlement of the Russo-Japanese war, or the expeditionary force sent to Europe in the first world war? Was it disarmament by international agreement when the war was over?

Was it famine relief in Europe after that war, relief to Japan after its great earthquake, the long unfortified Canadian border, the reckless extension of United States credit to every part of the earth, Wiley Post tying the world together with the Winnie Mae? Was it the press and later the radio extending their points of contact ever further until the United States public learned to think of the news of the world as something brought to its doorstep a few seconds after it happened?

Was it hordes of American tourists visiting every accessible place on earth, spending money on a scale that influenced the balance of trade? Was it products made in U. S. A. turning up in remote places?

Was it American missionaries in the backward areas, or Herbert Hoover pointing to the worldwide origins of the great depression, or Woodrow Wilson? Was it "a little group of willful men" contending that the Treaty of Versailles and the League of Nations should be regarded like any other international pact and being proved right in the long run? Was it sympathy for Gandhi in India and de Valera in Ireland?

Was isolation the thing that made oppressed people throughout the earth dream of America as the land where everything was possible? Was isolation a tariff policy that developed the strong industries in this country which now are making it the arsenal of democracy? Was it America First crying in the wilderness after lend-lease already had put us into the war? Or was isolation a stuffed club with which the American people beat each other in penitence for the sins and shortcomings of a world they thought—and still think—could be perfect with a little more effort and goodwill?

ABILITY TO PAY

Realization of the significance of lend-lease is overdue. That is what the current argument is about—suddenly, a great light is dawning.

The revelation will be good for everybody concerned if they can stand the initial shock of realizing that war has forced them to pool their resources for collective security. A Briton has spoken of lend-lease as an ability-to-pay arrangement, whereby each contributes as he is able according to the collective need. Donald Nelson, our own war production chief, has explained that he was misunderstood a few days ago when he said Russia would pay back the United States for what it obtained under lend-lease; he meant to say Russia intended to pay back what it obtained after the end of the war.

Official reports showing British lend-lease to the United States stood in a monetary ratio of about one to seven to our aid to Britain last June 30 have been added to the record. Also added is an official opinion by this government that the monetary ratio does not tell the whole story; this country has obtained vital aid from Britain in the war which cannot be assigned money value. Obviously, the same thing is true of our other allies. No money value can be assigned the performance of the Russian army, or the way British civilians withstood the aerial blitz—just as Russians and Britons cannot evaluate the intangible aid they received.

The cost of war, especially worldwide war, cannot be set up in a double entry bookkeeping system and rationalized. The Allies discovered that after 1918. In lend-lease they are going to discover it again. The awakening is overdue, but it is coming.

NOT USELESS, NOT FRUITLESS

Secretary of Interior Ickes, needed to fury by a congressional committee curious about the background of one of his department's more free-thinking employees, unwisely has ventured his spleen on congressional committees in general. "We are tired to death," he shouted, "of wasting public funds and public time in appearing before useless and fruitless committees of investigation."

Mr. Ickes did not specify that the special Truman committee to investigate the national defense program was wasting public funds or time; this committee has saved hundreds of millions of dollars and pulled the blankets of many a budding scandal. He didn't specify any particular committee, except the insular affairs committee before which he was appearing—a regular committee. He implied that all congressional committees which show interest in the operation of the government have no excuse for being, other than that of giving the executive department what it wants with no questions asked thereafter.

A few weeks ago when Wendell Wilkie accused the Roosevelt administration of developing an attitude of arrogance toward anyone daring to question its actions he hardly could have expected that a cabinet officer of the administration would accept the charge and enlarge upon it so soon. The American public does not think congressional committees are useless, or fruitless. Sometimes they are silly, sometimes vindictive, sometimes futile, but no more so than the people they call in to answer questions.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, November 14

SUNDAY'S horoscope advises a day of quiet, solitude and attention to the sabbatical spirit of the day, since there are hints of disappointments and frustrations in usual activities and also the way seems beset with dangers, loss and threat to the physical well-being. In a quiet way romance, friendship or pleasure may be sought. With correspondence or possessions be vigilant and careful.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is have a fairly good promise of holding their own in business, credit or financial transactions, with friends and influential personages helpful, but in active attack of important projects be alert to deceit, loss, open as well as secret enmity. Also the physical safety should be safeguarded against accident, depressions or colds. Keep balanced in danger.

A child born on this day may be inclined to enterprise and constructive efforts, yet it may be impetuous, wilful and wayward, as well as prone to moods and fits of depression and frustration. Possibly to a below par physical energy.

For Monday, November 15

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is not an entirely encouraging or propitious one. While there may be a minor development in an unexpected turn or surprising occurrence, perhaps in relation to public or community affairs, yet generally there is danger of mistakes, bad judgment, dubious strategies and intrigues, affecting both business and intimate personal associations. Be alert to underhand and sinister attacks, with fraud, loss and subtlety, reaction on health and credit. Use tact, policy and prudence in menacing positions, not strife.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which to exercise tact, diplomacy, good nature and prudence in circumstances pointing to loss, fraud, duplicity and betrayal, affecting the harmony and happiness of home and business. Subtle dangers threaten, with reactions on health, credit and reputation. With these cleverly and calmly controlled, there may be a surprising business turn with public or community token of recognition.

A child born on this day, while having some original talent and ambitions yet may be undermined in both business and personal relations by fraud, treachery and subtle enmity.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

American Public Enjoys Self-Dosing

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
MR. WESTBROOK PEGLER is a write whom one can hardly help reading nowadays.

I confess to a considerable admiration for Mr. Pegler's literary style and often his content, but I am sometimes troubled because I do not know how to answer his questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

am not technically familiar with the basis of his material—for instance, I do not know from personal experience what relation the Peoria Cement Mixers' Union has with the Secretary of State.

But one day Mr. Pegler hit upon a subject of which I claim some technical and expert knowledge—the state of the nation's health.

He said that if one can judge by the number of remedies that are drummed into the ears of the American public by radio, ours is a nation of hypochondriacs. He said that long ago when the country was younger there were many secret formula remedies generally used, but that the number and quality of the medical profession improved an dthe Department of Justice made the manufacturers modify their claims and the self-dosing of the American public stopped until the radio got started; and now self-dosing is in full flower again.

Dr. Pegler acknowledged to having taken some of these remedies himself in the form of vitamin tablets and in spite of the oratory he heard about them they not only did not do him any good, but they made him feel worse. His experience is something like one of mine. I was being sent samples of vitamin tablets and not knowing what to do with them, I gave a box to a general alcoholic friend. The printed slip said they were good for restoring nerves and muscles, would help to keep hair from turning gray, improve sight at night and relieve outbreaks on the skin. But the slip got lost, so the recipient never saw it and so never knew what he was supposed to be cured of. He took them for a week and was very enthusiastic, said they did him a world of good, but as I questioned him I found it was not any of the department which they were advertised to help.

Reasons For Self Treatment
Mr. Pegler is right in general as usually is and as any doctor could tell him. People treat themselves, not because they are sick, but in 90 per cent of cases because it makes them feel important. A diet that somebody goes on in most instances has no effect whatever on the digestive or metabolic state of the dieter, but it gives her something to talk about. But heaven, this is not confined to America nor to this age. If it were possible for me to take Mr. Pegler to a European health resort in the old days, he would see English, French, Bulgarians, Rumanians and Rumanians, all with little cups strung around their necks, drinking a tablespoonful of water every hour, and then going to another spring to have a good gargle and then going to the hotel and eating some fancy bran and hay diet—none of which was needed, none of which affected them in the least, but all of which furnished subject for light conversation.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
E. R. H.—Is twilight sleep still recommended during childbirth, or is there a tendency away from it? If so, what were its damages?

Answer: Strictly speaking twilight sleep is the method of preventing pain in childbirth by giving a hypodermic of scopolamine and morphine. It has fallen into disuse because it so often caused the death of the child. There are several methods of anesthesia during childbirth, but you had best let your obstetrician choose his own—the one he thinks most suitable for the case.

Washington Round-up

News and Views, Briefly
On What's Going On In Capital

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The coal-wage dispute drew renewed attention in the capital today as President William Green of the American Federation of Labor protested suggestions of War Labor board members that the government needs more power to enforce union compliance with its demands.

Green termed the suggestion "unjustifiable." It was made by WLB Chairman William H. Davis, Vice Chairman George W. Taylor and Dr. Frank P. Graham, all public members of the board.

Davis, Taylor and Graham replied that they referred to future labor-management disputes and not to past or current controversies. They said organized labor "except for the United Mine Workers" had established an excellent record in the war effort.

The WLB public members deplored John L. Lewis' continued defiance of the board and its orders and said such an example, if followed by other unions, would require more stringent labor legislation. Lewis head of the United Mine Workers.

Green termed the statement an "indictment" of all labor, and said the workers of America had reason to be proud of their production record in the war industries.

GOP WORKING FOR '44
The Republican National committee's publicity agents are turning out pamphlets claiming the 1943 elections mean good tidings and happy hunting for next year.

Supplements to Chairman Harrison E. Spangler's "Victory Memorandum" of 1943 proclaimed:

"Since this victory memorandum was issued, the 1943 elections have come and gone and the results more than ever confirm the prospect of victory for 1944."

The GOP press agents pointed out that the Republicans now have 26 governors in the 38 states outside of the solidly Democratic south. These states, they continue, have 339 electoral votes, 77 more than are required to elect a president.

DRAFT
A move to request Selective Service Director Lewis Hershey to review the occupational draft deferments of union officials developed today as an offshoot of a house naval subcommittee's investigation of plane production failures at the Brewster Aeronautical Corp. plants.

Rep. Maas (R-Minn.), the committee's ranking minority member, said he planned to write Hershey suggesting he might "well reexamine the deferment of union officials to determine their essentiality."

His action followed the committee's discovery yesterday that two officials in Brewster local 365, United Automotive Workers, CIO—Secretary Paul Krebs and Financial Secretary Gabriel De Angelis—had been classified 2-B, essential men in an essential industry.

Rep. Ward Johnson (R-Calif.) said "if a man holds an essential position in an industry, that's different, but to defer fellows like these works an injustice."

LILIAN LAUFERTY

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

At a little past two, when I was coming down the front stairs, after helping Dr. Rogers get Pam to bed, I saw Greg's cream-colored roadster turn into the driveway. The unthinkable moment had come. I closed my eyes and stood with my hand on the banister waiting to know what Greg would do.

After a while I heard his feet pounding up the porch and his voice shouting with what sounded like dismay: "Pam! Is Pam all right? Those doctors' cars—what do they mean?"

For a second nobody answered. It seemed impossible to project our voices through the blood-red fog that covered our world.

Then I heard Roney Hodges speaking: "We've another murder here," Mr. Mason. The Drury child.

"Not Henny!" Greg exclaimed.

"But why had he come secretly and furtively to Havenhurst last night?" Detective Hodges said. And as he talked I reconstructed the scene for myself and prayed that it was new and strange to Greg.

A child had been battered to death down on the beach. She must have screamed with pain. She must have fought for her life. Dennis Riordan had seen her crawling out from the Club float at ten. At one she had been already cold.

And while I was at Chief Calvin's office trying to make him believe that Nancy Everard hadn't killed her husband and tried to murder her children, the Havenhurst killer had been at work again and Henny had died alone—at the end of the beach and only half a mile away from all the holiday bathers at the Club. Not Greg. . . . Could it be Greg?

Then I thought of Commodore Knowlton. His house was on the ledge of rock above Beach Cottage. The red setter had been killed below the Rockledge cliffs. The little girl's life had been battered out against the last of the rocks on Havenhurst beach. The boulder just south of Rockledge.

I recalled the cane the old man had brandished. . . . once against a yelling dog, then against a frightened child in the hall of Glennacres.

A dog and a child. I felt certain that both these victims were part of a pattern. . . .

I came back to reality when the ambulance clanged in at Pam's gate. Greg was down on the lawn talking to Chief Calvin and the medical officer.

Peggy split the silence with an anxious scream: "Why do the police waste so much time? Why don't they catch the murderer before there's somebody dead in every house in Havenhurst? Nobody's safe!"

Sergeant O'Toole came out of Beach Cottage then, dragging Toya with him.

"Don't you be worrying your head, Miss Peggy," he said. "You can be sleeping safe from now on. It's this Jap's the killer." Nobody answered him. If Toya were the murderer. . . . But I couldn't believe that the cringing yellow boy, now gray with fear, had murdered Greg or Olive or little Henny.

I couldn't believe what I feared either—nor escape it. . . . Greg had come secretly to Havenhurst last night. Henny had hated Greg. He wanted to marry Pam. Perhaps Henny would have been an obstacle. As the ambulance drove away, Greg came up the porch steps. "Where's Pam?" he asked.

"In bed," Peggy answered.

Then I added: "She's been asking for you. You'd better go up to her before the bromides put her to sleep."

"I'll go up to her in a minute," Greg said. "But I've got to speak to you first, Hilly."

"To me?"

"Don't you realize you'll have to write Pam out of next week's show?"

I looked at him with sheer incredulity. How could he think of the show now?

"It means five scripts for you to rewrite and practically no time to do 'em in," Greg declared. "You'd better get going."

"Must we talk about this now?" Dennis parried. "Go up to Pam. She needs you."

"Sure!" Greg said. "Go on up and tell her to forget the show. I'll get Maida Wilson to play Dodi for a couple of weeks."

"That's the way to handle it," Dennis affirmed. "Hilda can't do a rewrite now. She's about ready to cave in. She was down on the beach—"

"You let her see Henny?" Greg asked in a tight, hard voice.

"Pam would have gone if I hadn't," I said dully.

Greg made no comment on that. He paused, then said: "Do you want to see Pam or all she's got? That's her's. She'll go nuts if Wilson plays it. Dodi's got to be written out for a week. Can I count on you, Hilly?"

There was a moment of uncomfortable silence. Then I said coldly: "I'll rewrite the scripts."

"That's my Hilly!" Greg said lightly, and went into the house to Pam.

"That finishes him with me!" Peggy snapped angrily.

I thanked God for it all the rest of that nightmare Saturday. Work was an escape from reality. I was forced to retreat inside my story and, as I scribbled to write Pam out of the scripts, I had to write her more and more out of my consciousness.

Dennis made me stop for an hour's walk after lunch on Sunday. We went for a tramp in the woods back of our house and I sketched my plan for whisking the heroine to Mexico.

GRANGE HEARS U. S. 1944 DIET AMPLE

Assurance of Adequate Civilian Supplies Given By WFA Head

(By Associated Press)

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 13.—War Food Administrator Marvin Jones told the National Grange convention today the American civilian diet in 1944 will be "as good as in the pre-war days."

"Decisions now made indicate that for the coming year our civilian population will have adequate supplies for health and productive effort, and that this will probably mean at least as much food per capita as in the pre-war years, both on a tonnage basis and in terms of food value," Jones said.

Adequate food must be assured for the consuming public, he asserted in a prepared speech, but at the same time the public is equally determined to apportion the supply so it can be an effective weapon for war and so adequate quantities can be provided for the armed forces and our Allies.

Jones assured the grange it was WFA's purpose to see that the farmers receive adequate returns next year for the all-time record crops they have been asked to produce.

"To protect you in your plans for increased production you must know that these prices will continue through your harvest and see you through," Jones said.

Shared Responsibility

"The nation and the consumer should be willing to share that responsibility and enable the support prices that are necessary. It is our purpose to see that you get these returns."

Jones declared, however, that the prices should not be out of line with the effort to prevent inflation.

Referring to the subsidy program, urged by President Roosevelt in a recent message to Congress, Jones said that use of the Commodity Credit Corp. funds to support farm prices and obtain additional production had proved "highly successful" this year and that he desired to continue it in 1944.

Legislation due to come before the house within the next few days would continue the life of the CCC beyond Dec. 31 but would prohibit use of CCC funds for payment of subsidies.

Speaking of shortages of farm machinery, Jones said twice as much has been authorized for 1944 as was scheduled for production this year.

"We have the largest food production in our history," he said. "We are eating only slightly below our highest consumption rate in history and we are sharing that tremendous supply on a more even basis than ever before. That is what we want."

Officials To Discuss Post-War Planning

Far reaching public works planning problems will be discussed by state and local officials in a panel meeting at the Onesto hotel, Canton, Nov. 30, under the auspices of the Ohio foundation.

To this forum predicated upon better understanding and co-operation between state and local governments, 100 civic groups have been invited to send delegations; officials from six counties, including commissioners and engineers have been asked to participate along with mayors, planning boards, budget groups, and engineers from about 150 cities, towns and villages.

Subjects to be discussed include housing, municipal financing, welfare institutions, highways, streets, water supply, health, local subdivision cooperation, engineering, leadership, construction, recreation, conservation, historical monuments, and other important topics.

D. O. Tuber, Columbus, director of the Ohio foundation will be in charge of the meeting.

Former German Flier Pays Off His 'Debt'

(By United Press)

DETROIT—Tibord Snyder, just 21, was one of the Marines who fought on Wake island. It was just a little more than a year from the day he enlisted when word came that he had been killed in action.

At home, in Detroit, Tibord has a medal—awarded posthumously but which might rank along with the Congressional Medal of Honor and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Tibord's medal is hundreds of little silver dollars. Not significant for mercenary value but for a true value—a tribute to American fighting boys.

Tibord's father, Ray Snyder, operator of a Detroit filling station, was a flier in the last war. He flew for Austria and Germany during the last seven months of his six years in the army, was a prisoner in a camp in England.

But today, the elder Snyder is passing out the American silver dollars in tribute to his American fighting son. At his filling station he hands every man in uniform a dollar as his "debt" for an old soldier who fought against the United States 20 years ago.

"I know it's not much," the modest naturalized Snyder says, "but the boys seem to like it and I guess mother and I get the biggest kick out of it. Almost every dollar means a letter and that's cheap for the fun I get."

The German war veteran started saving in 1923 "for no special purpose," but he's "mighty glad" he did. Most appreciative of his recipients, he adds, was a millionaire.

"I hated to offer him the dollar, but he took it and was more grateful than almost any of the other boys."

Snyder doesn't plan to stop at silver dollars. Now he's collecting $2 bills to be used for a victory celebration after the war is won.

Thanksgiving
The national day of Thanksgiving is close at hand. Candor compels us to admit that people generally miss its significance and its opportunity as they fail to appreciate the good that is in this land. They take too much for granted. At this time we may well consider the lot of others in other lands. Our cases are far from perfect in every respect but a comparison with our fellows across the sea brings home to us the overwhelming balance of temporal blessings in favor of our beloved America.

"No war has come to our shore, our fields and industries are everywhere productive. Our cities and country sides are safe. In principle at least liberty is ours. This good is ours by Divine favor. But if we lose it it is we who have thrown it away. A heritage may be squandered for a mass of potage, a precious jewel exchanged for a worthless stone. Only fools invite destruction through folly. Let us be faithful stewards of God's blessings to us, to the end that posterity may thank God after us."—Rev. Bauman.

How much does it cost to bomb Berlin ?

SUPPOSE, in the dusk of an English evening, 1,000 huge bombers soar over the Channel and head for Berlin.

By the time those planes return to England, their motors will have consumed 2,400,000 gallons of gasoline!

The cost . . . of the gasoline ALONE . . . will be more than $380,000.

To pay for the gasoline used on ONE such raid, 96,000 Americans would have to invest at least 10 percent of their next pay check in War Bonds!

You get a big kick out of reading about those 1,000-plane raids. You know that such raids, if repeated often enough, will soften up the Axis. But . . .

What are YOU doing to help pay the cost of those raids? (In addition to the gasoline they use, it costs Uncle Sam TWO HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS to build 1,000 4-motored bombers . . . plus the cost of training the 10,000 men who make up their crews!)

Modern war is expensive business . . . its cost runs into fantastic figures. 30,000,000 American wage earners are now putting an average of 10 percent of each pay check into War Bonds every pay day . . . but still it isn't enough!

Our air raids on the Axis are increasing in frequency and intensity. When land operations really get going, the cost will be staggering.

More and more Americans must join the Pay-Roll Savings Plan . . . more than those already in the Pay-Roll Savings Plan must begin to jack up their War Bond purchases . . . must start to invest more than 10 percent!

Remember . . . War Bonds are the finest investment in the world today. You get back $4 for every $3 you invest. And . . . the more War Bonds you buy now, the quicker the Axis will be licked . . . and the less the war will cost in the long run.

Think it over. And every time you're tempted to put a nickel in something you don't absolutely need—put it in War Bonds instead!

Salem High Ends Season With 31-0 Victory Over Lisbon

Quakers Use Their Second And Third Squads Most Of Game; Score On Long Runs

Closing their season with the seventh win in eight games, the Salem High school Quakers ran freely over a weak, but plucky group of Lisbon Blue Devils last night at Reilly field as some 2000 fans shivered while they watched the locals pile up 31 points and hold Lisbon scoreless.

The Quakers were vastly superior to the 20 man Lisbon squad and Coach Ben Barrett held the score as low as possible by using his second and third teams for most of the battle. The starting eleven played a total of about one quarter, but managed to push across three of the five touchdowns.

Long Runs By Quakers
The scoring came in the first, second and third quarters with the pushing the first one across from the seven yard line just after "Flick" Entriiken had dashed 60 yards—the longest run of the game—to bring the ball within Lisbon's 10 yard marker. Entriiken came through shortly with the second touchdown through his own right tackle to tally on a 24 yard run. In the second quarter, behind blocking by the second stringers, Bob Shea made one of the prettiest runs of the game when he circled right end and skipped down the sidelines, outrunning four Lisbon men, to bring the Quaker total to 18 points.

Captain Dick Greene turned in the longest scoring run of the fust on the first play after the kickoff at the half. "Knobby" dashed straight through the left side of the line and went 53 yards untouched for the score.

The final touchdown was tallied by Francis Lanney, rangy right end, who caught a blocked kick just three plays after Greene's run and galloped unmolested 24 yards to score. Lanney took the kick on the Lisbon 24 yard line after the whole Salem line had broken through and smeared Mullen just as he booted. Bob Shea made the conversion to give him high scoring honors for the evening.

Lisbon Threatens Twice
Lisbon threatened twice, and neither time had the push to get the ball where they wanted it. The Blue Devils failed to capitalize on a break in the second stanza when

E. Liverpool Wins, Wellsville Loses

Coach Gerald A. Capozzatti's Liverpool Potters came through with another easy win last night over a weak Scienceville squad, 37 to 0, before about 2000 fans at Patterson field in East Liverpool.

"Chuck" Winters, a sub right halfback, scored three touchdowns after he was put into the battle in the first period. Winters plunked two yards, 12 yards, and nabbed "Bobby" Ward's pass on the goal line to score his three tallies. "Chuck" Means ran the first Liverpool offensive play of the game some 47 yards to score the initial Potter touchdown. Means was through the entire Scienceville team and was practically untouched. "Bobby" Ward tossed another aerial to "Ty" Tyconevich, who caught it in the end zone, for the Potter tally in the third stanza. Bob McGraw smashed through the line for 12 yards and another score, culminating a Potter drive in the fourth quarter.

The Scienceville outfit netted exactly three yards loss from scrimmage in the fray and never got closer than the Potters 45 yard line.

It was the fifth win for the Potters, against three losses and one tie. They have one remaining game on their schedule, a Thanksgiving day clash with the Wellsville Bengals, who lost last night 26 to 6 to a visiting Rochester, Pa., squad

Says Basketball Hurts Trackmen

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—Take it from Lil Dimmitt, basketball and track don't mix.

Dimmitt, coach of the Texas A. & M. track team that won the Southwest Conference championship this year, thinks Pete Watkins, the Aggie's great high jumper, would have gone over 6 feet 8 had he not participated in basketball.

"I believe if he hadn't played basketball he would have jumped 6 feet 10," says Dimmitt. "Those sudden stops and starts didn't do his legs any good. It took plenty of spring out of them."

"Then, take Bill Cummings, Rice's champion hurdler. He didn't get into shape until the last two weeks of the season. Basketball slowed him down plenty."

Serves Army Now
HENDRICKS FIELD, Fla.—Back in 1925, Kent Greenfield, then one of the New York Giants' leading hurriers, was serving 'em hot across the plate. Now a private here, and a mess hall cook, he's once again serving up hot stuff—this time from the base's kitchen.

BUCKEYES, ILLINI CLASH FOR THEIR 32ND ENGAGEMENT

About 40,000 Fans Are Expected to Witness Game At Columbus Today

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Nov. 13.—Illinois and Ohio State tangle on the gridiron for the 32nd time today, with the Bucks—1942 Western conference champions—needing a victory to get out of the league cellar.

On the previous 31 games Ohio has won 17, lost 12 and tied two, and the Bucks were slight favorites to win this one. In conference play this season the Bucks have defeated three in a row, while the Illini have won two of four starts.

About 40,000 fans were expected to half fill the Buckeye stadium for the homecoming clash, final contest on Ohio's home schedule. A high-scoring spree was in prospect for today, with two Illinois "scat" backs—151-pound Eddie Bray and 162-pound Eddie McGovern—as the chief threats of the invaders, and the Bucks relying on their two freshman flashes, Dean Sensenbaur and Ernie Parks.

Two defensive stalwarts of the Ohio forward wall are expected to see little if any service today. Center Gordon Appleby and Tackle Bill Willis are on the hospital list. Paul Matinsky of Wheeling, W. Va., is booked to start in Appleby's spot, while Don Kay of Marion will fill in for Willis if he falters after starting the game.

Ohio will have an advantage of about seven pounds per man in the backfield, but the Illini have an over-all edge of four pounds per man.

Coach Ray Eliot of Illinois and Coach Paul Brown of Ohio State came up with almost identical pregame statements, tenor of both being "I don't see how we can win."

Army Golfers Win In London Matches

LONDON.—Carrying on where the Walker Cup team left off, GI golfers representing a London Regatta club have won 14 of 15 matches against British teams. Ranging from its 5 ft. 3 in. member, Sgt. Walter Kupiec of Chicopee Falls, Mass., to its 6 ft. 3 in. giant, Cpl. Donald W. Piene, Springfield, Ill., the American team has an array of former club professionals.

Among them are Cpl. Stanley Remsen, New Hyde Park, L. I., N. Y., former pro at the Pomanoke Country club; Cpl. Ed Sullivan, Hartford, Conn., former Hartford Country club assistant pro; and Pvt. Joseph Doyle, Flushing, N. Y., who used to help his father, Pat Doyle, pro at the Flushing Golf club.

Ohio's Big Shotgun Barrage Will Open Friday, Nov. 19

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13.—Ohio's big shotgun barrage opens next Friday, when the state's hunters starting their annual campaign against rabbits and pheasants.

The War Production board and the OPA have stepped in to alleviate the ammunition shortage, which has been acute all along the Buckeye front. Some persons (hardly sportsmen) who had ammunition on hand have been advertising it for sale at $10 per box—or 40 cents per shell—but OPA has decreed that the ceiling price is $1.35 per box, and dealers or individuals violating it will be prosecuted.

The War Production board has granted the hunters an additional six weeks in which to buy ammunition, tending the period to Dec. 31. The original order limited all except ranchers and farmers to the Oct. 1 to Nov. 15 deadline. The limit was extended because manufacture has not been up to quota, and the ranchers and farmers, operating on their priorities, have taken practically the entire supply.

Although the amount of game taken each year adds up to an impressive poundage, it isn't much on a per capita basis and would have little effect on meat rationing. Last year American hunters (not just Ohio) took 235,404,000 pounds of meat—or about two pounds for each man, woman and child in the land. Rabbits led with 68,755,000 pounds, and other leaders were: Deer 59,000,000 pounds; squirrels 22,000,000; raccoons, opossum and woodchuck 14,222,000; elk 9,900,000; and antelope, moose, bear, mountain sheep and goats, 1,650,000.

Upland birds, including quail (they're songbirds in Ohio), pheasants, grouse, partridges and wild turkeys, totaled 42,243,000 pounds, of which 15,000,000 pheasants accounted for 30,377,000 pounds. Ducks produced 32,500,000 pounds; geese 3,000,000; and doves, bangtail pigeons and woodcock an additional 2,405,000 pounds.

Perhaps you didn't know, but it's a "covey" of partridges, a "mide" of pheasants, a "wisp" of snipe, a "flight" of doves or swallows, a "muster" of peacocks, a "siege" of herons, a "building" of rooks, a "brood" of grouse, and a "plump" of wildfowl. (We thought they were all just plain "flocks.")

Matched With Bivins
CLEVELAND, Nov. 13.—Heavyweights Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland and Lee Q. Murray of South Norwalk, Conn., were matched today for a 10-round headline in the News' 18th annual Christmas fund boxing show Dec. 1.

IRISH HOLD EDGE ON NORTHWESTERN

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Yale ends its football season today but what is probably more important to the 1943 gridiron fanatic is that Notre Dame closes the collegiate phase of its 10-game program.

The South Bend Ramblers invade Evanston, Ill., and are favored to make Northwestern their eighth consecutive college victim. After that come the Iowa Seahawks and the Great Lakes Sailors, a pair of good teams leavened with professionals.

Today's Evanston struggle pits Otto Graham against the Irish and although he may make it close hardly any of the expected 48,000 spectators believe the Wildcats will repeat their surprise win of 1935.

While a Notre Dame defeat would be a major upset, it is not unlikely that Southern California, erstwhile member of the unbeaten list, will absorb its second straight whipping. Spilled last week by San Diego Naval, the Trojans must tangle with March field today.

Pennsylvania enters the North Carolina, Navy disembarks at Columbia and Army hopes to get by Sampson, N. Y., naval station. Cornell and Dartmouth continue their ancient rivalry at Boston and Princeton helps close the Eli season with the championship of the Big Three at stake.

In the Midwest, Purdue's power-house is idle but Michigan keeps in the Big Ten title scrap by opposing Wisconsin. Indiana's civilians aren't expected to impede Great Lakes too much and Iowa will be after its first win of the season at Minnesota.

LURES 15-INCH BASS WITH FALSE TEETH

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—Dr. Hoy B. McCusky always has believed that bass will strike on almost anything, but he had a difficult time trying to convince a friend.

Game Protector Roy Stewart of Pleasant county informed the state conservation commission that Dr. McCusky, a St. Mary's dentist, found that his fishing partner, Gene Davis, was a doubting Thomas.

Stewart explained that to prove his point Dr. McCusky took out his lower set of false teeth, attached one edge to a treble hook and the other to a leader. With the novel lure, the dentist soon landed a 15-inch bass. The fish was caught in Middle Island creek.

Thus the main concern of the world at large now is that the Big three have indeed reached the stage of mutual trust and cooperation, and that nothing happen to disturb this unity. It would be foolish to think that differences won't arise among them, but it isn't foolish to believe that there's a good chance of the Big Three making the grade.

Does that all sound too optimistic and trusting? Well, when you're up against a surgical operation and there's only one doctor available, you've got to bank on him. In this case the American-British-Russian combine is the surgeon, and there's no question that it's fully capable of performing the operation. Anyway, it's going to do the job.

Inter-Nation Farm Conference Urged

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 13.—A proposal that American farm organizations invite farm group leaders from Great Britain, Canada, Australia, China and other friendly nations to participate in an international conference to draft a program for post-war agricultural prosperity was advanced yesterday at the National grange convention.

The suggestion was made by Morten Tompkins, master of the Oregon State grange and one of three American farm leaders who returned a few days ago from an inspection trip of British farms. The other two were Harry Wingate, president of the Georgia Farm Bureau federation, and Harvey Solberg, president of the Rocky Mountain section of the National Farmers union.

The grange convention was expected to approve a resolution calling for such a conference which would be held probably at Washington within the next six months and would go over much of the ground covered by the United Nations food conference at Hot Springs, Va., last spring.

Kentucky GOP Winner Cites Dems' Arrogance

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Judge Simon S. Willis, first Republican to be elected governor of Kentucky since 1927, attributes his victory to what he described as arrogance of the Kentucky Democratic machine and an awakening by his own party members to the possibilities of a Republican triumph in 1944.

"There also are the honest Democrats who are becoming tired of machine inefficiency and mismanagement, and they will join in the attempt to halt its perpetuity," Judge Willis said in an interview.

Scarcity of Many Cigaret Brands in Country Reported

(By Associated Press)

A growing scarcity of popular brand cigarettes and low-priced cigars—attributed to labor shortages, early Christmas buying and heavy overseas shipments—was reported today in many cities throughout the nation.

Especially scarce were inexpensive cigars. The Clear Institute of America said normal reserves of cigars for Christmas sales were being sold now to meet heavy demands, and added that prospects were slim for obtaining extra supplies for the Yuletide.

There is widespread voluntary rationing of both cigars and cigarettes, an Associated Press survey showed. Little shortage of pipe tobacco was reported, and if the shortage of cigarettes and cigars becomes more acute, as many tobacco men predict, a general resurrection of pipe is expected.

Wholesalers all over the country reported manufacturers of popular brands of cigarettes had limited future consignments to 20 or 30 per cent less than those of July and August, smallest business months of the year.

A Memphis wholesaler complained "you just can't get good cigars any more" and estimated the cut-pipe had been reduced by 70 per cent. An Atlanta wholesaler attributed the situation to lack of skilled labor, heavy consumer demand and Lend-Lease shipments.

Most tobacco men expressed belief the situation would become much worse.

Severe lack of inexpensive cigars was reported in Detroit, Des Moines, Nashville, New Haven, New Orleans, Birmingham, Ala., Rochester, N. Y., Portland, Ore., Denver, Seattle, and the states of New Mexico and Montana.

Less acute shortages were reported in Omaha, Charleston, W. Va., Kansas City, Chicago, Jacksonville, Fla., Los Angeles, St. Louis, Dallas, San Francisco, San Diego, Cal., Spokane, Wash., and several cities in New York and Ohio. D. C. Louisville and Oklahoma City reported suffering no tobacco troubles whatever. They advanced no explanation.

Philadelphia, peace-time home of several good five-cent cigars, has seen only slight signs of scarcity so far, but dealers predict voluntary rationing soon.

Nazi Forces Attack Aegean Sea Island

CAIRO, Nov. 13.—The Germans threw parachute troops, dive-bombers and seaborne reinforcements against British and Italian troops defending Leros island today in what appeared to be an all-out effort to regain that Aegean stepping stone.

A British communique acknowledged the Nazis had been successful in reinforcing their beachheads in the second day of bitter fighting for the Dodecanese island but said the stubborn Allied defenders had inflicted heavy casualties upon the invaders.

Long-range RAF fighters and bombers sped to the support of the beleaguered British garrison. The fighters planes strafing German beachheads in long sweeps over the island, and bombers blasting away at nearby island bases from which Germany could rush reinforcements.

The Maritza airfield on the German-held island of Rhodes was hit heavily. Antismacchia airfield on nearby Cos island was raided twice during the night, and an enemy convoy was attacked in daylight yesterday near Antikythira island, which lies about midway between Crete and the Greek mainland. At least two vessels were hit, the British announcement said.

NEW FARM PARITY FORMULA IS URGED

(By Associated Press)

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 13.—The National grange laid plans today to fight a new standard for measuring "equitable" farm prices in the post-war period and to oppose the return of AAA crop benefit payments.

Many masters of state granges attending the 77th annual convention of the farm organization urged adoption of a resolution calling for a new farm parity price formula in federal farm legislation when the war is over.

Under present law, parity is defined as a price or income which brings a return equivalent in purchasing power to that received for a farm product in a past period of relative agricultural prosperity, usually 1909-14.

Albert S. Goss, National master, told the convention the parity formula is a "false parity". He asserted prices in line with the present parity formula would be below "real" parity.

Grange leaders said the present parity formula was inequitable for the following reasons:

(1) It omits farm labor costs in determining parity. Farm labor was said to constitute a third of the farmers' production costs.

(2) It is wrong to assume that farm income, as compared with non-farm income, was in light proportion in the 1909-14 base period.

(3) It is based upon price instead of income, the latter being the only true measure of purchasing power.

(4) It is obsolete because the relative values of commodities have changed greatly since the 1909-14 period.

Goss said the post-war period government AAA crop benefit checks of the thirties should be replaced by government programs which assured farmers "true" parity prices at the market place.

ALLIES PRESS ON

The Germans were putting up the most stubborn resistance on the Fifth army front in the Venafro and Mignano regions.

In one clash, Americans seized a hill, killing 30 Nazis and wounding 30 more. The retreating Germans ran into one of their own minefields, suffering further casualties. American losses were one killed, and three wounded.

An Eighth army patrol cut over the Sangro river at an unspecified point to the east, and wiped out a German machine-gun nest.

Farther southwest on the Eighth army front, a battle raged between Casagrande, held by the Allies, and Ateasi, in German hands. The British occupied important high ground, and repulsed a German counter-attack.

Small advances were reported in the Rionero area up to road north of Isernia, in Central Italy.

On the west coast, German patrols were more active, crossing the Garigliano river in some cases.

Palmer constantly was astonishing himself with the wonders of the Bougainville jungle.

The morning after his death, they wrapped him in his damp-proof poncho and a blanket took him away and buried him among the Marines dead in the week-old cemetery on Cape Torokona.

Over his grave the Marines erected a plain wooden marker inscribed: "Keith Palmer, war correspondent."
